Examples of Service

The UCLA Herb Alpert School of Music is involved in diversity-related public service through three major local programs. The Gluck Outreach Program takes the finest UCLA music students to schools, libraries, senior centers, and other nontraditional venues throughout Los Angeles County, bringing high quality performances and music education free of charge to individuals and groups who might not otherwise have the opportunity to hear live music and to cultivate a passion for music among participants. The Music Partnership Program has sent music students into Los Angeles' most underserved inner-city communities to provide music training and mentoring to talented at-risk youth. UCLA music students teach and inspire over 1500 inner city youths annually at five partnership sites. The Monk Institute Jazz Outreach Program students present clinics, master classes, and teach private lessons to students throughout greater Los Angeles and the world.
